

Announcing
OLD JAIL PLAZA

Claiborne County Historical Society
To restore and maintain the OLD JAIL

The OLD Claiborne County Jail is the oldest free standing jail in Tennessee and the past two years have seen major renovations on the jail itself. The new roof was installed in 2012 and in 2013 we were able with the help of federal grants to repair the front and south side of the building to prevent further deterioration. To continue with this restoration of the exterior and to start on the interior reconstruction we need your help. The Society has decided that a plaza in front of the jail would be a wonderful enhancement to the site and allow continued fundraising in a way that enhances the area for the entire county. Our artist's rendition of how the plaza would look in front of the jail is shown here. For a modest sum we invite you to honor your father, mother or someone who has made a difference for the better in the way of life in Claiborne County.

We have two brick prices $75 with three lines of engraving and $100 with three lines of engraving, special symbols found at the website, and a souvenir brick 1"x3" which you can display as a show of support for the society. You may order as many bricks as you want at this special price. Order on line at <http://www.bricksrus.com/order/cchgs> (website should be available by October 25, 2013), or complete this form and send it with your check to Claiborne County Historical Society PO Box 32, Tazewell, TN 37879
